Cunte's Investigations

Chapter one

Sons of Molech were the kings of a country. And so there was a lot of suffering in that country.

Mantila suffered but succeeded in sending his two children through school.

one (Emeranta) got a job, the second (Salomae) did not and Mantila kept on insulting the second.

This made Cunte (Lord of Soldiers) to investigate the matter.

Cunte found out that Dondiem (a wealthy man) had a son called Donnaka. Donnaka started a company and that was where Mantila's son Emeranta worked.

Cunte also found out that Isolo (a wealthy man) gave birth to a fool who did not start a company. And this fool was assigned the same course by God that was assigned to Salomae.

Chapter Two

The best bank in this country that was ruled by some Sons of Molech sacked about a thousand (1000) staff.

Their wives and children lamented. They complained bitterly.

This made Cunte (Lord of Soldiers) to investigate the matter.

He found out that those who were sacked were assigned courses that would not make them much money by God. Such as mechanic (vehicle repair), carpentry and teaching.

So these wryslers were not working in their own places, and so were not performing well.

Since they were not performing well, the Bank had to sack them.

Chapter Three

A song which was loved by Cunte at that time was:

The men who were good people and had the highest number of great buildings were all Maxims. The men who were good people and had the highest number of trailers were all Maxims.

Gborea Has Fallen

Chapter one

who was to be blamed for Gborea's fall.
First was Kalkulo.

Kalkulo planted his trees only in Gborea.
Kalkulo knew many things. Including earth making and plant making. But he doesn't know how to locate his trees.

Kalkulo's trees were raw materials for two factories. And this was the lust that led to Gborea's fall.

Chapter Two

The second to be blamed was the teachers God assigned to Gborea. They taught hard religion in Gborea. While the teachers of Ilkerac, their neighbours taught easy religion.

This led to the fact that the population of Gborea became twenty (20) million, and the population of Ilkerac became one hundred and twenty (120) million.

Chapter Three

A Prophet was happy that he had three sons, of which two were destined to be factory bosses.

But when he heard that war was coming to his beloved Gborea (where he lived), he began to lament saying: I have no children who are soldiers.

Chapter Four

During the last of the battles between Illerac and Gborea, a soldier of Gborea killed eight (8) soldiers in a sword fight and then was killed by the ninth soldier.

A miracle indeed.

Chapter Five

In Heaven, there was a party. The party was about the rewards God was giving Kalkulo for his trees.

A Holy Spirit was offended and spoke up to God saying that four of her children died in the war for Kalkulo's trees. And that Kalkulo's rewards should be reduced because he knew no location.

God then said locating a business is a lot of books.

She responded that there was a shortcut and that was to pray to God to tell him the location.

And God said: Shut up high woman, for Kalkulo knows many things. And can be said to be awesome even though he doesn't know how to locate his trees.

Irrgor

Chapter one

Irrgor was born with three heads. The other two were not attached to his body but instead were voices he heard.

Irrgor did well in the university. Not by graduating with first class but by teaching his friends what he knew.

This and others led to God giving Irrgor five heads. A complete man in the destiny of the sons of Carlsbego.

Chapter Two

Irrgor thought of a factory object. This factory object was an improvement to an already existing factory object.

By the help of his Holy Spirit, Irrgor got some Maxims to execute his hope. And by the grace of vatti, his factory research was sponsored.

when the factory object was being reviewed by the old Factory Lords, God said that this was indeed a factory book.

Chapter Three

A great Lord came asking Irrgor that when would he start another factory. Especially a factory book.

Irrgor was offended but responded to the Lord saying that: Irrgor's Lord, the Computer Lord is eight thousand years old and has only five factories.

King of Argulam

Chapter one

The king of Argulam rebelled against the union of four kings. Many called him stupid since they would war with him and he would lose.

The war indeed happened: the four kings and their kingdoms went to war with the king and the Kingdom of Argulam.

The king of Argulam was defeated. And the kingdom of Argulam had to follow the ways of the Union.

Chapter Two

Manika and his friends gathered in Manika's house to discuss the events of the time they lived in. They picked Manika's house since he was the wealthy one among them.

while discussing, Manika's wife (Gartogede) spoke and said strange words. She said the King of Argulam won the war.

After their discussions, Manika scolded his wife saying that she should stop all these prophetic statements.

Manika went on reminding his wife that Prophets are few and that means she is not one of them.

Chapter Three

Four weeks after the death of the King of Argulam, God woke up Brenden (Lord of Soldiers) from his slumbers.

Brenden summoned locusts from his heavens and devoured the army of the Union (its three kingdoms). Those that were left in the army of the Union, had something like leprosy on their skin.

Chapter Four

Gartogede went to her husband telling him of the news concerning Brenden. And that her prophecy had at last come to pass.

Manika responded: well that's something but Prophecies cannot pay your bills (since the Lord of Prophecies have declared that a prophet cannot collect money for his advice). And so please go back to the market and keep selling.

Yes I will, but I will also keep being a prophet, said Gartogede.

Sons of Odinna

Chapter one

watamulun was not a happy man. He went to the university and still couldn't speak the language as well as some others. And it was obvious.

watamulum always thought to himself that no woman would marry him because he couldn't speak well.

Noticing his depression, God spoke to him.

God said: The way you speak just means you can't teach and nothing else. It is a way of reducing the cost of the Soul of a Creature. You would definitely get married. And any who complains of the way you speak is a bad person.

Chapter Two

watamulum indeed got married and had some children. one of them was Marthana, a son of odinna.

Marthana, a son of odinna did not graduate with a high score in the university.

As always, Sons of odinna had a great measure of the power of Sorcero.

She was fully taught in the ways of the Sons of odinna.

Chapter Three

In the Country where Marthana and watamulum lived, lived Mormonica.

Mormonica was depressed and angry because he was more qualified for a contract but he was not given the contract by their Governor.

And then he heard a voice speaking to him on the matter. It was the voice of Marthana, son of Odinna.

The voice said: Do you remember that you paid many of your workers below the minimum wage God had set. And that is why I made sure you didn't get the contract.

I (son of Odinna) and the other Sons of Odinna would be a curse to you because of your ways. We would be your personnel Devil.

Chapter Four

watamulum last son, the youngest was a Churchman. He was called Raphaelan on noticing that his elder sister Marthana had a full measure of the power of Sorcero, he started avoiding her.

Marthana was annoyed about his brother, Raphaelan's behaviour. And went to talk to him about it.

Marthana said: Please stop avoiding me. God is greater than Sorcero or odinna. God even created odinna.

Chapter Five

In the Country where Marthana and watamulum lived, lived Mathewal the Carpenter.

Mathewal prayed to God concerning a matter. The matter was this:

His brother Gangantu was supposed to be a great man. He had a big shop and was earning far more than him.

His brother Gangantu offended a Caesar and his market stopped selling. Now Mathewal began feeding his brother from his Carpentry.

Mathewal prayed that: oh God when will the oil of Sorcero, the Caeser has would finish.

Chapter Six

Marthana was sent by odinna to help Mathewal with his problem.

She got her friends (all sons of odinna) and they went to permanently stop the Caeser that disturbed Mathewal.

Marthana and her friends did not collect any money from Mathewal and the other people who the Caeser was troubling.
